

Structure that a body entering at a given time keeps when it crosses the seam

